

PRESS RELEASE ISSUED BY THE MUSEUM OF NORTH CRAVEN LIFE, SETTLE

ARCHIVE ALIVE!- CELEBRATING NORTH CRAVEN PAST AND PRESENT
(Settle & District Community News Feb 2009)

22 Jan 2009

I have been working with schools and groups in the community over the last 6 months using documents and photographs from the collections to get lots of exciting projects going! One of the notable successes was the Hellifield History Day which was put on by a group of local volunteers. This included contributions of photos, documents and objects showing the history of many of the village groups and institutions. Many people of all ages attended to look at the material and many also brought along their own photographs to share and for the museum to copy for future use in displays etc. Some of this material will make up a section of the Archive Alive exhibition from April at The Folly. The exhibition will be a celebration of the wealth of archive material held by the museum and, equally importantly, show how the people of North Craven are using the material in their own way!

Make a date in your diaries now to drop in to The Folly at Easter to take a look at the displays and find out about talks and events you could get involved with.
